

“Re-Sourcing a baptist Vision of the Church in an Emotivist Age”

Jonathan R. Wilson, Carey Theological College

February 25, 2011

An Emotivist Age

What we mean by “emotivist”

How we got here

What it means for the church

A baptist Vision

Why (small-b) Baptist?

McClendon’s vision

K. Davis’s assist

The surprising rise of new monastic communities

Sources and Re-Sources

The (Baptist) ecclesiology and practice of the predecessor culture

Some temptations of the present culture

Some (baptist) ecclesiology and practices for faithfulness in the present age

Kingdom, Church, and World

A baptist Vision

Bibliography

Alasdair MacIntyre, After Virtue: A Study in Moral Theory (3rd ed., University of Notre Dame Press).

Jonathan R. Wilson, Living Faithfully in a Fragmented World: From After Virtue to a New Monasticism (2nd ed. Cascade).

Why Church Matters: Worship, Ministry and Mission in Practice (Brazos).

James Wm. McClendon, Jr., Systematic Theology, Vol. 1: Ethics, Vol. 2: Doctrine, Vol. 3: Witness (Abingdon).

Kenneth Davis, Anabaptism and Asceticism (Herald Press).

Rutba House (eds.), School(s) for Conversion: 12 Marks of the New Monasticism (Cascade).

Jonathan Wilson-Hartgrove, New Monasticism (Brazos)